

MILITARY FUNERAL HONORS

GIVEN THE BODY OF ALBERT J. LENTZ MONDAY EVENING.

Killed in Battle in France the Body Was Brought Home for Interment in National Cemetery.

Albert J. Lentz, the first Adams county soldier to make the supreme sacrifice in the World War, was buried with military honors in the Gettysburg National Cemetery on Monday evening near sunset hour. As the first Adams county soldier to lose his life on a French battlefield, his name has been given to the Gettysburg American Legion Post.

Albert J. Lentz was born Oct. 11, 1890, on a farm near Mummaburg,

ALBERT J. LENTZ
Gettysburg

where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isriel C. Lentz, lived at the time. Later the family moved to Gettysburg and now live near Wolf Hill. Albert attended the public schools and was employed by Dr. H. M. Hartman, James Weikert, Calvin Baschoar at the Gettysburg Roller Mills and was in the section gang here under Amos Coulson on the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad. He left Gettysburg about six years ago, going to Columbus, Ohio, where he later joined the United States Army, went to the Mexican border first and as a member of Headquarters Company of the 18th Infantry went to France. He reached the front line trenches and on April 27, 1918, was killed in battle of Cantigny by a bursting shell resulting in instant death. He was buried in a cemetery in France. The body was recently disinterred and brought to America and sent to his home arriving here on March 24.

The Albert J. Lentz Post of the American Legion had charge of the funeral services on Tuesday evening. The town turned out in mass to do honor to the occasion. The Albert J. Lentz Post was represented by 75 soldiers and 12 sailors in line. The Ira E. Lady Post of Ardenstville had 12 representatives present and the George Snyder Post of New Oxford, 14 representatives present.

The Guard of Honor, David Yohe, William Allison, William Timmins, John Slaybaugh, John P. Butt, Jr., and Henry Garvin, escorted the hearse to the Square and the ceremonies were opened with prayer by Rev. Charles Gruber, Chaplain of the Post. America was then sung, led by I. L. Taylor, Commander of the Post. C. Wm. Duncan, next introduced Rev. Harry Daniels, who in part said:

"If men are not willing to die for their country, they will soon have a country that is not worth dying for. 'Albert J. Lentz was one of those who flung his body between civilization and German devilry that liberty might not perish. Where did Albert Lentz get the inspiration to support him in the trench life, when wading through Flanders mud, when drenched with rain, when making dangerous raids through No Man's Land? I think you will agree with me that he got part of it in the public school, while singing the national air we have sung tonight."

"I think he got some of it from the fact that here in his own home town freedom and liberty were saved to the world. We will lay this body within a short distance of the Bloody Angle, where Rebel and Yankee struggled for supremacy and where the backbone of the Confederacy was broken and the world made safe for freemen."

"Albert Lentz is not dead; it is true his body lies here before us, but Albert Lentz was never more alive than now. Though we bury this body, his soul goes marching on, and from the manner of his death, his comrades will take increased devotion to their country. These boys and girls will be inspired with the spirit of Albert Lentz and we will highly resolve to be more worthy of the government and land for which he died."

The funeral procession to the National Cemetery was in the following order:

Gettysburg Citizens' Band; Procession Leader Clyde L. Bream, Commander Duncan and Bugler Lloyd Hess; the firing squad composed of John Hartman, Earl Stallsmith, Freeman Stanton, Howard Harner, Chas. Wible, Walter Sterner, Vincent Florence and Dorsey Rebert; Rev. QUAKER VALLEY CLUB.

Brilliant Opening of Highly Artistic Club House.

The Quaker Valley Country Club at Guernsey was formally thrown open to its members on Tuesday evening, April 5th. The Governors of the Club, Fred C. Griest, C. Arthur Griest and Wm. C. Tyson sent out invitations to the members for the function to consist of a reception from 4 to 6 o'clock, supper from 6 to 8 and dancing from 8 to 12.

The opening of the Country Club was a brilliant success. The scenes surroundings were emphasized by the perfect evening. The building has gone through a wonderful transformation. Wide porches flank the house on three sides. The ground and second floors contain two huge picturesque fire places. On the ground floor there are shower baths for both men and women, and a rest room. On the main floor a large reception and dance room connects with the porches and makes a delightful place for such functions.

The furnishing and decorations, with blue as the predominant color have been most tastefully and artistically done and the ensemble of the place invites a welcome and delighted every one who journeyed there.

The golf course is almost ready for use and covers 35 acres specially well adapted for the purpose. It is expected to have a man and woman take charge of the catering to the members and visitors. At present all roads toward the Club House can not be spoken of with an degree of enthusiasm, but when the Biglerville road is completed, and that is promised by mid-summer, the Country Club will be most accessible from all points over good roads.

Hospital News.

The wonderful work of the Adams County Red Cross, the Pennsylvania Department of Health and its local nurse, the District Nurse and the Annie M. Warner Hospital was demonstrated on Wednesday when Emil Geivert, the expert brace maker of Philadelphia, held a clinic at the Hospital, assisted by the representatives of the above organizations.

The twenty children attending the clinic presented a most pathetic sight. They ran in ages from a few months to 16 years, many of them afflicted with infantile paralysis. Mr. Geivert was here to fit the braces on a number of children, whose measurements had been made on a previous visit and the other children came to be examined by him to ascertain whether they could be helped by braces or whether operations were necessary before brace measurements were taken. A number were found Mr. Geivert proposed to consult Dr. Rugh, the eminent Philadelphia surgeon about, and it is possible if a number of children can be found who should be operated upon and the consent of their parents is obtained that Dr. Rugh will come here for the purpose.

The Hospital is a very busy place these days, having on Friday, April 8, seventeen patients, eight of them in the wards. In the 20 odd days the Hospital has been open there have been over 30 patients in the Hospital. There have been over a dozen operations and four are scheduled for Friday, April 8, and more than 50 plates have been taken of patients with the X-ray machine, many of the patients having more than one plate.

Want All Soldiers to Have Medal.

To complete the issue of the Victory Medal granted by the United States Government to American participants in the World War, a group of officers and army field clerks have been detailed by the War Department to devote their entire energies toward stimulating interest in these awards and facilitating their distribution.

The country has been divided into Six Victory Medal Regions of which Harrisburg has been designated as a sub-station of the First Region. The next of kin of any soldier that died of disease or was killed in action during the war are entitled to a medal in the name of the deceased soldier.

This final appeal is being made to all ex-service men that have not as yet applied for their medal. They need only write their name and address on a card and forward it to the Harrisburg office: the necessary forms and instructions will then be mailed them from that source and the delivery of their medal will be expedited. It is hoped that within the next two months every person entitled to the award will have received the medal.

Going Democratic.

Paul Winchester, noted writer, owner of Clairvaux, near Emmitsburg, and making his permanent home there, noting that the Democrats had things all their own way at a recent town election in Hagerstown, recently wrote from Baltimore: "Last year the word Democrat, after a candidate's name, served as a hood-doo—this year the same word will be a sign of good fortune, while the hoodoo will be transferred to the word Republican," and gives the following explanation:

The political tide seems to have turned toward the Democrats earlier than was expected, and there are all sorts of signs visible that before the fall election it will be so strong that in all sections of the country anything labeled Democrats will win, while anything that bears the mark of Republican, will go down to defeat. Reason seems to have resumed her sway in the minds of those Democrats who left their party last fall, and many Republicans and most of all the Independents are wondering why they became politically crazy and voted without reason or judgment. And there is no little unreason and lack of judgment in the way people are turning against the party in power and its representatives before there has been any time or opportunity for them to take definite action on any matter which might have a material effect on the public welfare. But no matter what may be the cause, the tide of public sentiment seems to be turning with a rush away from the party which won with such an overwhelming majority last fall, and all the many evils of the times are now laid at the door of the mighty less one short month. The Germans are disappointed because the President has not made peace with Germany; the Irish are mad because he has not recognized the so-called Republic of Ireland; the Russians are giving out yells of rage because he is ignoring the Bolsheviks of Russia, and all the other foreigners and their sympathizers are becoming hostile because he has not done some impossible things for them—and, over and above all, and what is most significant, the native born citizens of the country no matter what their racial antecedents may have been, the real Americans, who in the final analysis govern the country both locally and nationally; are realizing after all the old-time Democratic conservative ideas are the true American ideas, and are preparing to go back to their own again.

FARMS WANTED

OUR REAL ESTATE DEPARTMENT is in a position to sell a large number of fruit and general farms this season. We are in constant touch with buyers here and elsewhere. Runk's Real Estate Agency of Chambersburg is associated with us, so that owners who list their farms enjoy the benefit of double listing and a wide field.

Since entering the real estate business in Gettysburg we sold more than 200 properties in Adams, and 700 in Franklin and Cumberland Counties. You can therefore rest assured that by placing the sale of your property in our hands it will be sold if priced at actual value. It is useless, however, to list a property with us at an inflated price for we would not advise a customer to pay more than a property is worth to earn a commission. We have dozens of customers who have bought and sold a number of times through our firm. If our advice and service proved unreliable they would not come back.

List now for an early sale. If you get your property in the early offerings you have a better chance for a good sale.
